

Origami is the art of folding paper into various shapes and sculptures. It is said to have originated in Japanese culture hundreds of years ago and continues as a popular craft all around the world today.

This week's game time will feature an origami activity where the boys will learn how to make a boat and/or a crane from a sheet of paper. The following links will take you to videos on YouTube where you can learn how to do this. You may either learn the skill yourself and then demonstrate it to your boys or show the videos to your boys to help them learn it.

Feel free to substitute alternative origami projects or add additional ones as needed for your group. Numerous other projects can be found online on YouTube or other web sites.
